COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The tax rate for this year has been set at 39 mills per one dollar of valuation. This is the second year in a row that the rate has decreased by one mill. The rate for 1963 was 41 mills and the rate for 1964 was 40 mills. The rate decrease was made possible by an increase of nearly $200,000 in the valuation of the town. Three areas accounted for the major part of the valuation increase. The completion of the new supermarket and new restaurant and new laundromat, was one reason for the increased valuation of the town and additions to existing mill properties accounted for increased town valuation. The third area of increase is personal property on farms. The remaining increase is gained by new homes and renovations to existing homes.

The work on typing the commitment book has started and the tax bills should be mailed during the first week of August. The tax bills will be about two and one half months earlier this year than last year. I hope that the earlier tax bills will mean earlier payment of tax bills.

The heavy thunderstorm Sunday night washed the shoulders of some roads but all were passable at all times. The highway crew made repairs on the necessary roads on Monday. The tarring for this summer was finally begun on Tuesday of this week after many delays. The work should be done in about two weeks if the weather holds good.

Six new park benches were purchased for the Town Common and now there are seven benches available on the common. It might be that a better location can be found for some of the benches later but all the benches were placed on the common for now.

GOULD CHANGES RULES ON DAY STUDENT ADMISSION

At the annual meeting held in Bethel, June 14, the Gould Board of Trustees voted to make the facilities of the Academy available to qualified day students from any town within the newly formed school administrative district and from other towns outside Union #22. This is a departure from an earlier vote which restricted day enrollment to qualified students of Union #22 only. It is intended to provide assistance to the area during the transition to an SAD high school organization.

Any day students within commuting distance desirous of filing application to Gould for 1965-1966 under this new policy should first obtain the approval of their school principal and then make their intention known in writing to the Gould Headmaster by August 5. All candidates will submit to examinations on a date to be designated later.

OCEOC GET OFFICE SPACE—SEEK DIRECTOR AND SECRETARY

Office space for the new Oxford County Economic Opportunity Council was allocated Tuesday morning at a meeting of officers of that group and the Oxford County Commissioners in South Paris.

This is the first step by the OCEOC in starting a program for the county under the grant received from the Economic Opportunity Act, making available $18,874, the federal share of the 99/10 total budget.

The next step, according to Samuel H. Timberlake, Bethel, the new organization's president, will be to engage the services of a director and secretary.

A screening committee has been appointed for this, John P. Zello, Rumford, chairman; Keith W. Ruff, Rumford, and Mrs. Barbara Douglass, Bethel. Applications for the position of director, stating qualifications, should be submitted to Zello.

The primary purpose of the OCEOC will be to study ways of combatting poverty in county towns and the first duty of the director will be to study conditions with this in mind, and to submit to the group's directors plans of action, meeting Economic Opportunity Act requirements.

The offices include the former county commissioners and grand jury rooms in the county building and will be used until the move from the present quarters for county economic director Samuel Michael to the new district court building.

Sunday night's thunder shower dumped over an inch of rain in the Bethel area.

BETHEL JR. BASEBALL RECEIVES BOOST

Bethel's junior baseball program received a fine financial boost Wednesday evening, when residents of the area generously supported a house-to-house candy sale by boys of the teams themselves.

Fund-raising chairman for 1965, Samuel H. Timberlake, said that a preliminary tally indicated a sale of nearly 350 boxes of candy from the time the boys started selling at approximately 6 p. m. until darkness fell. A final report on the sales will be made following completion of other projects of an effort to earn a minimum of $200 to buy needed equipment, pay league fees, and insurance on the ball players.

The boys of the Red Sox Little League team and members of the older boys' team, will conduct the regular Tag Day, Saturday, July 24. Another project in which friends of the program are working will be completed July 31.

Assisting Mr. Timberlake in planning the campaign, which was mapped out at a meeting last Thursday night, were Don Christen, president of the program; Drew Webster, secretary-treasurer; coaches Sunny Blake, Duke Boyd, Blacky Cummings, Clayton Rice, Don York, Guy Parker, Jr., and Ralph Ryder.

A very heartening number of parents, and other adults interested in keeping the organized sport going, helped in the candy drive, and their help, as well as the willing customers, is much appreciated — not to mention the enthusiasm and willingness of the boys.

MOLLYCOKETT PLANS

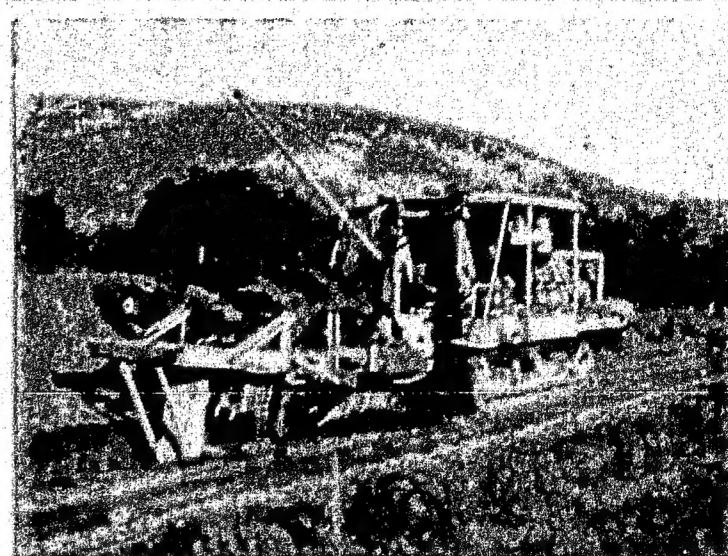

Next Saturday, July 31, is Mollycokett Day. That means only one week left to contact Jay Wilbur, 4-2713, that you will have a float, get your pets ready for the 2:30 Pet Show, fix your nearest handicraft for the exhibit and call Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stevens at either 824-2800 or 824-2491, about that article for the auction. This is our hazard, let's make it a good one.

The auction is not only a place to pick up some interesting items but also a gathering for sociability and fun. It comes to Miss Cagen's barn, across from Dunn's Market at 1:30. If you have an object for the auction either take it to Steve's Garage or call the Stevens for pick up service.

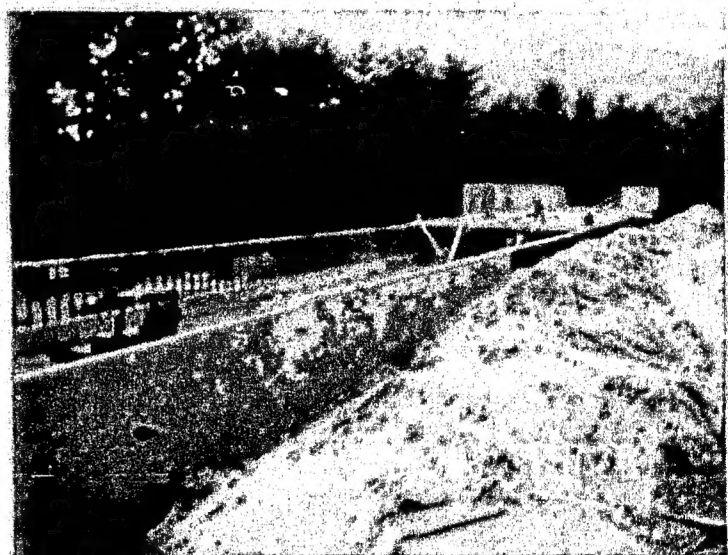

Children of this area should have a busy week practicing for the 9:00 a. m. field events, dreaming about the prizes they might receive at the Papoose Reservation and training their pets for the show judges for the show will be guests of the Bethel Inn.

This is also the time to take plenty of space for the 4th of July home made food sale will be able to buy at the Bethel and of the home baked bread auction 1-7 p. m.

So waiting to spend time this week so that Mollycokett Day will be a memorable one.

WASHINGTON REPORT
by Congressman William D. Hathaway

The Hickey Lincoln School hydro-electric power project, approved recently by President Johnson, will mean many things to many people in Maine, and the other New England states as well.

To have a first-rate economy, Maine must have a first-rate power system. If Maine's economy is to grow and prosper, new jobs must be found and a rising standard of living must be created.

New England, and particularly Maine, has for many years been one of the highest cost power markets in the country. It is for this reason that the industrial climate of Maine and the other New England states has not been more favorable.

Industrial bridge plant located in New England and, indeed, many businesses have moved out rather than fight what is in many instances a losing battle with unreasonably high operational costs.

While the Hickey Dam on the St. John will be made of earth, steel and rock and earth, full concrete and steel it also will have its human side. By providing substantial on-site employment, the project will create new work opportunities that will regenerate the economy of the area.

Greater Maine, and New England, in line with the national average cost of power is just one of the many economic benefits of this project. During the years it would take to construct the dam the annual payroll would be close to $10 million annually, and additional jobs would be created in the construction of the dam.

While the dam is located in Ansonia County, the power benefits will be available for all of Maine and New England. About 100,000 kilowatts of base load power can be delivered to each county at a cost of 7 to 8 cents per kilowatt hour, such power is available from the Hickey Riverway will be provided and thousands of new jobs will be drawn to Maine and the area each year. These jobs, as they travel throughout our state, will have a great impact on our economy from Kittery to Fort Kent.

The people of Maine owe a great debt to President Johnson and Secretary DeLoach, and I have sent them both a letter expressing our appreciation. I am fully aware of the needs of Maine and our Second District, and I shall continue to make and I support realistic legislative proposals to meet these needs.

A good time was had by all despite a few showers.

They have received trophies and ribbons to be given at the August 15 meet in Bethel. These can be seen this week at the Bethel Bowling Alleys.

The next meet will be at Unity, Maine, July 23, at the Downeast B. B. Club.

offer unlimited recreation and tourist facilities to the area.

The reservoir will be stocked with fish and can also be used for boating, swimming, picnicking and camping. The dam will provide complete flood protection, and there always will be no less than four feet of water in the St. John River. The Allagash Riverway will be protected and thousands of new jobs will be drawn to Maine and the area each year. TRUE GOLD

We struggle for riches,
We strive to get by,
We fight for the dollar,
And one day we die.
Never counting the treasures,
Ignored and refused;
The riches God gave us
That we never have used.

—Richard R. Smith

COMMENT

Where have all the elm trees gone . . .

Will this be the lament of local citizens in future years? It is not the responsibility of the municipality to see that elm trees on private property are cut down if they are infected with Dutch Elm Disease.

It is understood that the $5,000 raised at the last town meeting for prevention and control of the Disease was to protect trees that cast shade on the village streets. Some work has been done and it is now evident that more must be done. The responsibility for the care of privately owned trees was to be the landowners.

If action is not taken, and soon, to preserve the trees shading our streets, roads and yards, all the promotional pamphlets and self-righteous lip-service to hospitality won't attract tourists and new residents or businesses.

MOAL MEET AT NAPLES

Sunday, July 18, the local MOAL members attended a meet in Naples. There were around 30 cars to enjoy the day's festivities.

At 11 a. m. there was a parade through town with a break for dinner. After dinner the six MOALs visited an antique shop then returned to the school yard around 2 p. m. there was another parade through town. Following this were events. CHRISTMAS SPIRIT AT NEW YORK FAIR

The village green at the New England Pavilion complex, New York World's Fair Grounds, Flushing Meadows, N. Y., will be the scene of a real Christmas party, complete with Santa Claus arriving by modern jet-sled, the 25th of July. The center of attraction will be a beautiful, 20 foot balsam fir Christmas tree cut from the property of Basil Bryant, East Hebron.

This gala event, which will be the specific surprise and joy of 150 boys and girls selected by the New York City Police Athletic League, over its momentum and eventual success to many people. The Maine Forestry Department is providing much of the necessary technical help required in order that a tree may be shipped out of the state of Maine and through three states and into New York City. For example the tree must be certified as being a healthy tree free of cypress moth and other contaminants. Joel Marsh and Joe Lupsha of the Forestry Department, are coordinating with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Mr. Gatchell, Agricultural Research Service.

The Maine Christmas Tree Association and the University of Maine's Forestry Department have been represented by Professor Henry Plummer who commenced the search for the stately tree. Professor Plummer and Wayne Jackson, local service forester, discovered the tree through Gerald Saunders of East Hebron, perhaps Oxford County's most experienced Christmas tree grower, having been in the business for over 40 years. Mr. Saunders searched his woodland and that of his neighbor, Basil Bryant, finally finding the tree on Mr. Bryant's farm. The portion that will be shipped to New York is the top of a mammoth forty-footer. This portion will be lowered to the ground by means of guide ropes, cranes, and a number of woodsmen. The tree will be cradled in a bed of boughs and burlap. The top portion will then be braced with small maple saplings, and further wrapped in moist burlap. The base will be bagged in moist peat moss. The tree will then be taken to the Auburn terminal of the St. Johnsbury Trucking Company through the kindness of the Maine Truck Drivers Association. It will then be delivered to the fair grounds for display Saturday the 25th. The party will, of course, be a little early, getting under way at 2 p. m. the 25th.

The paragon Glass Works, manufacturer of blown glass Christmas tree ornaments, of Lewiston, is providing the ornaments necessary to enliven this tree with exciting glitter for the children. A national marketing firm, who desires to remain anonymous, is providing the many gifts for the kids.

The fair visitors will be afforded a rare sight when they go to the green. The colors of the many ornaments, presents wrapped in shiny paper, kula cake, and the beautiful tree will be a sight to be remembered.

Red headed woodpeckers, rarely seen east of New York state, have been seen by many in this vicinity recently.

Mayon Street, constructed by the Bethel Highway Department, was last fall, as being surfaced this week.

SHERIFF MAKES REPORT TO OXFORD COUNTY

Oxford County Sheriff L. C. "Bud" Horton today released his second quarterly report to the people of Oxford County.

First after a bit of a struggle with a lot of support from you, the public, our new radio system has been approved and is now in the process of being installed. This new system will do a lot toward up-dating our present system and will be of great benefit to everyone.

During the May term of Superior Court held in South Paris our County Attorney, Severin Beliveau, of Rumford, obtained a record number of criminal indictments from the Grand Jury totalling 33 of which 32 were brought forth by your Sheriff's Department. Some ten of these indictments were second indictments, a first for Oxford County.

Now for a look around the county: in the Rumford, Mexico area Deputies Dickson and Carrier have done a remarkable job assisted at times by Moro, Myhrall and Jonta, part time men.

In the Bethel area, Deputy Howe capably assisted by deputies from various parts of the county has cleaned up the gang that was causing the greatest part of the crime wave going on in that area for many months.

In the Lovell, Stoneham, Watford and Fryeburg area a group that had been operating out of Lewiston consisting of three men and a woman were apprehended due to the alertness of a citizen and the quick action of Game Warden Lord. This apprehension led to an investigation that cleaned up some 10 or 12 breaks, resulting in the recovery of about $2000 worth of property which the owners had given up hope of ever seeing again.

In the Norway-South Paris area we have recovered several stolen cars, cleaned up some 15 breaks, found several missing persons, apprehended escapees from the men's reformatory and answered many, many non-criminal complaints.

The County Jail was inspected by state officials around the first part of May and received an excellent report.

Our Juvenile Officer Deputy Jim Parent has been very active and has been helpful in getting a lot of good healthy activity going to help take up the juveniles time. Excellent progress has been made in the Rumford area, in the Bethel area and in the Norway-Paris area.

Regardless of what some folks may say or feel, we do not have much of a juvenile problem in Oxford County. Percentage-wise anyway.

We are still receiving splendid cooperation from local and state law enforcement agencies. This makes a difficult task a lot easier.

Four of our ten cars have been equipped with oxygen units, fire extinguishers, first aid kits and so on.

All members of this department have just completed a 10 week school held two nights a week and conducted by the FBI. FBI agents from all over New England came to South Paris to conduct their respective subjects. Although this school was organized and supervised by the Sheriff's Department, all law enforcement men were invited to attend and in fact several from Androscoggin County attended. This school was conducted at no expense to the county. We are very grateful to the FBI for their cooperation. As Sheriff I am conducting some classes in riot control and several of my men will be attending classes on riot control in Cumberland County. At this time we have very little in the way of riot control equipment but I'm working on that at this time and hope to remedy that situation in the near future.

We have had two young men try to escape from our custody and this has created quite a bit of talk. Both were quickly recovered.

We have started a Christmas program repairing broken toys for the needy children. This program is being carried out in conjunction with the Oxford Hills "Key Club" a part of Kiwanis International.

My rehabilitation program has gotten off to a good start and already I have placed an ex-convict with one of the industries and I feel that he will make good.

If you see deputy's car parked along a main thoroughfare he may be there only because he was ordered there by me and not to see if he can catch you doing something wrong. During

MOLLYCKETT THE PERSON

Mollyckett was an eighteenth century Indian princess who lived in this area. When her tribe moved to Canada she chose to remain here. In her restless wanderings from Andover to Paris Hill she won the reputation of being a friendly, wise nurse. One white man at Paris Hill was especially surprised to learn that she had traveled many miles especially to save his life, when everyone else had given up hopes for his recovery.

Although she unselfishly gave of herself she could also use her powers against people. Once when she was refused help in the cold winter she cursed the land of unfriendly white settlers at Snow Falls when they refused her shelter from a raging blizzard when night caught her short of her destination.

The proud, friendly Indian princess and nurse died in 1816, over one hundred years old. Her grave is in Andover, Maine.
